One of the most important sales of books of the season opened last night at the American Art Galleries with an initial total of $9,880. The sale was to dispose of a collection of publications in original parts of novels and illustrations of the nineteenth century, forming a portion of the library of Frederick Corder of London; finely bound sets of first editions from the private library of David G. Joyce of Chicago; unique Kipling items collected by Capt. S. J. Martindale of Ashford, England; unpublished manuscripts and colored plate books, together with a collection of postage stamps, from C. The auction room was crowded and bidding was kept throughout the evening. The record price was brought by Thomas Jefferson's Bible with his autograph on the fly leaf. The volume, which was printed in Edinburgh in 1809-10, was purchased by L. J. O'Reilly for $1,550. The collected works of William Harrison Ainsworth in 109 volumes, all first editions, were bought by the same bidder for $1,350, and a set of the works of Lord Lytton in 127 volumes went to the same bidder for $1,225.

Miss Helen Trevor and C. J. Coulter to Be Wed Feb. 15

Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks Will Perform Ceremony in St. Bartholomew's.

The marriage of Miss Helen Lippend Stewart Trevor, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graff Trevor, to Mr. Charles J. Coulter of this city and Tuxedo Park will take place February 15 in St. Bartholomew's Church, Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks officiating. Miss Betty Thompson will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Eleanor Parrish of Richmond, Katherine Van Ingen, Martha M. Oltley and Katherine Hurd. Mr. William Elliott, Jr., will be best man. The ushers, Messrs. Casimir de Rham, Francis L. Bradley, John Stevens Melcher, Jr., Elliot Hoff, H. Craft Trevor, Jr., and Kenneth B. G. Parsons, Vernon H. Brown of New York, and from Boston Francis Parkman, Harrison G. Reynolds and Ross T. Whistler. The reception will follow at the Country Club.

Whether its resurrection by the enterprising Chicago organization will give it a permanent place on the American stage is not to be determined at this moment. The public response to Miss Gardiner's invitation to hear it was not tumultuous. The audience was of fair size, but it was attentive rather than demonstrative. Perhaps a better performance would have evoked warmer applause. That of last evening was distinguished chiefly by honorable effort.

Miss Rosa Raisa was an attractive figure to see and she sang some parts of the music very well, but in many places she seemed to be the result of hard usage of a voice naturally of extraordinary beauty and power. Ulysses Lappas, a Greek tenor, was the remarkable feature of the performance. He sang the role of the Greek tenor, was the remarkable feature of the performance.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fletcher in this city learned yesterday that their marriage had been severed recently by the French courts. The divorce was granted upon the ground of temperamental incompatibility.

For the present Mrs. Fletcher is making her home in Paris, but will come to New York soon to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Westinghouse, here. Mr. Fletcher returned recently from France and is at his home in Englewood, N. J.

Miss Blanche Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Stroock of 88 Central Park West, was married to Mr. Robert Markwell of Chicago, last night, at the Ambassador. Mr. Robert McMillan Fulton of 118 West Seventy-second street, and Miss Cora May Simpson, daughter of Mrs. William Sippy of this city, were married yesterday at the Plaza Hotel by Rev. Only the families were present, including Mr. and Mrs. William Dike Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Squire, Dr. and Mrs. Sippy, and Mr. and Mrs. William Sippy, a nephew of the bride. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stotesbury of Santa Barbara have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Madeleine Stotesbury, to Mr. Edward T. Sargent, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sargent of 4 West Twenty-eighth street.

The engagement is announced of Senora Amalia Chamorro, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rosendo Chamorro of Granada, Nicaragua, to Mr. Louis C. Gold, son of this city, who served overseas and has been associated for ten years with H. R. Mallinson & Co.

John Meldrum, a blind pianist, who has played here in recent seasons with creditable success, gave a recital last evening in Aeolian Hall. His program had unusual interest. It contained Deems Taylor's "Prelude," opus 5, No. 1, and "Poem," opus 5, No. 2, which were new here, and also two other numbers, marked new, which were played from manuscript: a "Conte Hebraique," opus 17, No. 1, by Lazare Saminsky, and two pieces from Emerson Whitcomb's suite, "New York Days and Nights," opus 40.

The pianist's style never fails to interest his hearers, and so it did again last night. There were many of them in the hall.

The Mutual Benefit Association, Franklin Simon & Co. employees, will give a circus and dance at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, Park avenue and Thirty-fourth street, Saturday night. The proceeds will be turned into the emergency relief fund of the association.

CHICAGO COMPANY REVIVES 'GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST'

Miss Rosa Raisa Sings Title Role in Puccini Opera.

Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West" was given at the Manhattan Opera House last evening by the Chicago Opera Company. This work had the peculiar distinction of receiving its first performance on any stage at the Metropolitan Opera House on December 10, 1910. Its reputation was intertwined with the name of Miss Emma Destina, the first Puccini flavor. In the season of 1913-14 it slowly faded from the public gaze.

Whether its resurrection by the enterprising Chicago organization will give it a permanent place on the American stage is not to be determined at this moment. The public response to Miss Gardiner's invitation to hear it was not tumultuous. The audience was of fair size, but it was attentive rather than demonstrative.
